Automotive Glass Experts (AGE) announce collaboration with Xinyi Glass (XYG) to create an exclusive range of glass for the AGE network, focusing on safety and high quality.

AGE, as one of the market references for high-quality automotive glass services, is excited to announce its new collaboration with XYG, one of the world's leading manufacturers of automotive glass.

As the AGE network continues to expand and grow in a challenging market, It is necessary to continuously look for innovative, high quality, reliable, and efficient partner suppliers to work with. AGE aims to work with XYG to enhance the overall quality of automotive glass as well as to develop and guarantee AGE exclusive glass following the highest quality standards.

This collaboration will be reflected in the automotive glass which will bear the AGE logo, signify that the glass has been produced to the highest standards and has undergone testing to ensure its quality thus guaranteeing safety and performance following a replacement service.

"At AGE, we are committed to providing the best possible automotive quality glass service and solutions. I believe that our partnership with Xinyi Glass will help us achieve this," said Giorgio Pompole, AGE board member. "By collaborating with Xinyi Glass, we will be able to enhance the quality of glass products, creating a win-win partnership. Our collaboration is a result of recent market challenges in acquiring certain types of glass, and this partnership will make our response time more efficient than ever."

"We are excited to partner with AGE. We hope to combine our technical expertise with AGE's industry knowledge to produce the highest-quality automotive glass possible," said Vera Lu, Xinyi Automotive Glass Sales Manager.

The partnership between AGE and Xinyi Glass will undoubtedly bring significant benefits to the automotive glass industry, and customers can expect to see the results of this collaboration in the future.
