Automotive Glass Experts (AGE), a global automotive glass services network, is pleased to announce the addition of NWG ADAS & Windscreens (Formerly National Windscreens Australia) as its newest member.

This expansion marks AGE's presence on the Oceania continent, reinforcing its commitment to providing standardized support and resources to automotive glass service providers worldwide.

NWG Australia brings almost 40 years of experience in windscreen repair, replacement, and ADAS calibration. With a nationwide network of certified technicians and service centres, NWG delivers comprehensive solutions for everyday drivers, fleets, rental companies, and insured vehicles.

"Welcoming National Windscreens into AGE demonstrates our dedication to expanding global collaboration and expertise," said Marco Moreno, AGE CEO & Chairman. "NWG's operational standards, technical capabilities, and commitment to customer service align with AGE's objectives of fostering consistent service quality and supporting members with reliable processes and tools."

As part of the AGE network, NWG and its members will benefit from access to international best practices, shared knowledge, and collaborative initiatives with other AGE members. This membership enhances AGE's ability to provide clients with uniform service levels, whether they are in Europe, North America, Asia, Africa, or now Oceania.

The membership is effective immediately, and NWG will participate in AGE's global programs and initiatives, contributing to the network's collective expertise and operational standards.
